

Why move to # → Scotland?

Here's our quick guide.

Scotland has been our home since the beginning. And we couldn't be prouder of that fact. Both Edinburgh and Glasgow have everything you'd expect from an international city while being affordable and easy to explore.

What's more, we have colleagues from around 40 different countries working in our tech hubs. So, there's a ready-made international community for you to tap into whenever you need advice on the best neighbourhoods to live in or things to see and do.

Two international cities

From festivals to food scenes, the culture in Glasgow and Edinburgh is world famous. And with international airports less than 30 minutes away, you're also well-connected.

Delve deeper into everything these cities have to offer.

www.edinburgh.org

www.glasgowlife.org.uk

Surrounded by nature

In Scotland, you're never far from incredible landscapes. So as well as exploring all the green spaces of the city, you'll have beaches, hills, forests and castles just a short journey away.

Discover everything you'll have on your doorstep.

www.scotland.org/live-in-scotland

www.visitscotland.com

With a thriving tech scene

Technology is Scotland's fastest-growing sector with over 12,000 digital tech firms making it their home. It's a widely respected and booming community to be part of.

Take a look at these organisations to see for yourself.

www.scotlandis.com

www.digit.fyi

www.technation.io

